This judicial joke elicited considerable merriment.

General Tracy—Why not put that in your bill of particulars?

Mr. Beach—Because under the bill of particulars evidence showing the state of familiarity between the parties would be excluded. If I prove by witnesses that during the plaintings absence from home, in the lecture season, the defendant was every day and for hours in the plaintings house under suspicious circumstances, this will all be excluded. The confession does not mention specific dates. Ought we, when we evinced our willingness to make the defendant acquainted with our whole scope of evidence, to be hampered in this way?

At the conclusion of the argument Judge Nellson said that his associate and himself had arrived at a pretty definite conclusion in the matter, but they would not render their decision until eleven o'clock to-morrow (Tuesday). The order would then be modified, if not set aside.

The Clerk of the Court, Mr. Knoebel, was directed to draw a panel of 300 jurors to enable the trial to proceed the first Monday in January.

CORONERS' CASES.

Coroner Eickhoff was yesterday morning called to No. 16 St. Mark's place, to hold an inquest on the body of Mr. Moritz Goetze, formerly a journalist connected with some of the German papers of this city, who committed suicide on Sunday morns ing by hanging himself to his bedroom door by ing by hanging himself to his bedroom door by means of a pair of suspenders. It is also suspected that deceased, to make death certain, had swallowed a quantity of landanum, as an empty vial was found on the floor near him. Deceased had become very despondent on account of losing his sight and hearing, and, in consequence, was compelled to give up his business.

Fanny Ahn Andray, a young woman twenty-one years of age, died yesterday afternoon in room 3 of house No. 189 Prince street from the effects of a dose of Paris green, taken on Sanday with suicidal intent. Coroner Woltman was notified to hold an inquest. Deceased, it appears, had married a Prenchman, but the match proving an unhappy one she left him and returned to live with her mother again. Fanny became despondent over her troubles, and purchasing a quantity of the poison named swaliowed it without the knowledge of her mother, but subsequently told her what she had done. A doctor was then called, but when he arrived the poison had taken deadly effect.

THE FIRE DEPARTMENT.

THE PIRE COMMISSIONERS PROBABLY TO BE RE-MOVED FROM OFFICE-THE REPORT OF THE COMMISSIONERS OF ACCOUNTS SAID TO BE

The Commissioners of Accounts, who have for some time past been busily engaged examining into the affairs of the Fire Department, have at last completed their labors, and their report was yesterday afternoon submitted to Mayor Vance. The latter, in view of the fact that there now remain but three days before the expiration of his own term of office, it is believed will take no action upon it but simply put it on file as one of the official documents to be handed over to Mayor Wickham. The report is said to be quite a voluminous one, and, although its real contents are not positively known, enough about it has leaked out to show that it is an indictment of at least two of the Commissioners, and that, while the third is not arraigned for active participation in the wrong doings in the department, he is held-it is alleged—responsible for not having done his whole duty in exposing

THE ALLEGED MALPEASANCES. This was the case with one of the Commissioners of Charities and Correction. Although nothing definite in the way of a criminal charge was brought against him personally the Mayor considered that, had he exercised proper care and a determination to prevent what he could not have but known was malieasance, the wrong dolings complained of would have been hipped in the bud, and because he kept his arms folded and slept while others did mischlef he was made to step down and out. It is pretty certain, therefore, that if any of the Fire Commissioners have to go they will all go, and as there is no doubt about two of them the "subsequent proceedings" after the new Mayor sends the charges to the Governor will interest them all equally. It was generally believed that when the report of the Commissioners of Accounts would be made to Mr. Vance he would take the same action in the case of the Fire Commissioners, if the report was so damaging as to call for their removal, as he took in the case of the Charity Commissioners—namely, conier with the new Mayor as to their successors, and on

THE GOVENNOR'S APPROVAL OF THE CHARGES at once remove the accused Commissioners. His decision, however, simply to place the report on file, to be acted upon by Mr. Wickham, preclindes anything of this kind. Besides, Mr. Wickham has not conferred in any way with Mr. Vance as to the disposition that should be made of the report; if damaging, then it would be sent to the latter.

Mr. Blunt wams to know the cost of the present wooden piers. With your permission I will turnish this information. I am informed by the new langineer-incline, General Charles E. BUREAU OF CHARITIES.

CONFERENCE WITH REPRESENTATIVES OF CHAB-ITABLE INSTITUTIONS.

The Executive Committee of the Bureau of Charities metabout twenty representatives of the leading charitable societies of New York yesterday morning, in order to effect, if possible, a more hearty co-operation in the matter of the registration of persons applying for and receiving relief. Mr. Robert Gordon, President of St. Andrew's Society, presided, and Mr. Henry E. Pellen acted as Secpresided, and Mr. Henry E. Pellon acted as Secretary. Mr. Theodore Roosevelt stated the object of the meeting, and fully explained the benefits to be derived from the system of registration instituted and carried out by the Bureau of Charities. These benefits can be summarized as follows:—

It excludes the unworthy.

It checks meniciancy.

In protecting the societies from imposition it enables their times to go intriber some field only. It checks the interest of the societies from the site of the field of the societies, and thus it prevents the unnecessary multiplication of new relief agencies on ground already overed.

It strengthens the claims of existing societies to the support of the public. It shows the overlapping of the societies in their work.

It enables the societies to ascertain where distress and panperson most exist, and it points out and applies the remedy promptly.
It gives the power of ascertaining the condition, habits, character and resources of any given beneficiary.

ambie and resolution were unanimously adopted:

Whereas the Burean of Charities has laid before the representatives of certain sociaties engaged in outdoor relief a plan for registering beneficiaries of the different societies, which has been inaugurated and worked successfully by it during the last winter; and whereas the permanent success of such a plan seems to depend on the effective co-operation of the various societies interested; and whereas in this way the worthy could be most effectually assisted without any chance of publicity, and the object of the subscribing public most completely realised, while the fraudulent would be exposed and prevented from obtaining assistance, and all prelext for street mendicancy would thus be removed. According to the complete the subscribing of the societies here present pledge themselves to use their influence to form a committee of composed of members of the respective societies to carry out this branch of the work in co-operation with the Bureau of Charities.

BOARD OF ASSISTANT ALDERMEN.

A meeting of the Board of Assistant Aldermen was held yesterday atternoon, President Strack in the chair. There was a considerable amount of business to be transacted, and in view of the ap proaching dissolution of the body the members manifested much wit and humor. Several genera orders having been satisfactorily disposed of the resolution accepting the marble bust of the late Mayor Havemeyer, presented by Alderman Morris, of the Board to complete and hand in their reports.

On reassembling the resolution appropriating $5.000 for portraits of ex-Governors Hoffman and Dix, and $500 for a portrait of ex-Mayor A. Oakey Hall was called up and adopted.

Some discussion arose as to the payment of the bills incident to the recent visit of the Lord Mayor of Dublin, when Alderman Clancy promptly called for an explanation of any dissension that might exist on the subject. He was particularly caustic in his observations on those who had participated in the municipal lestivities and who now manisted a seeming indifference on the subject. Owing to an insufficient vote the matter was laid over.

lested a seeming indifference on the subject.

A resolution was called up to the effect that a lease be taken by the city of the premises No. 2 Fourth avenue for the use of the Department of Buildings. The premises mentioned are at present occupied by the department. Some opposition having been manifested as to the leasing of the building, Superintendent Anams appeared before the Board and stated that the place was thoroughly adapted to the wants of the department, that the rent was low and that, in fact, it afforded every facility for the working of the department. The resolution was adopted.

Subsequently when a general order was called up providing for a public fountain and a pound in the Iwenty-third ward the members of the Board indulged in some racy performances. For instance, after a committee of the whole had been ordered, Assistant Alderman Simons moved that his colleagues, Kelly and Simonson be appointed pound keepers, and in turn Assistant Alderman Simons moved that Mr. Simons be appointed deputy pound keeper. This levity in such a grave body premoked much laughter; but the proceeding reached its chimax when Assistant Alderman Keating moved for the substitution of goat commissioners. A despatch was received from Assistant Alderman Cumisky excusing his absence and expressing the hope that municipal affairs would be conducted smoothly, even though he was not in attendance.

After the transaction of some routine business the Board adjourned till to-day at two o'clock.

BOARD OF APPORTIONMENT.

An adjourned meeting of the Board of Apportionment was held yesterday afternoon. Mayor Vance occupied the chair, and the other members present were Comptroller Green, Mr. Richard and Mr. John Wheeler, President of the Tax Commission. The minutes of the previous meeting having been confirmed a resolution was adopted directing the transfer of $11,250, appropriated to pay for services rendered on retainers during the years 1872 and 1873, to the appropriation for contingencies for the same department.

A resolution offered by the Comptroller was also adopted setting forth, in accordance with the terms of the charter, the reason for making changes in the budget for 1875.

After the transaction of some routine business the Board adjourned to meet to-day at noon. and Mr. John Wheeler, President of the Tax Com-

MORTALITY OF THE PASSING YEAR.

The following report was presented last evening at a meeting of the New York County Medical Sc ciety by Dr. Charles P. Russel, chairman of the Committee on Diseases:-

Committee on Diseases has the honor to present the following report, embracing the year 18/4, the figures for the following report, embracing the year 18/4, the figures for the last twelve days being necessarily estimated. The nosological history of the present year in this city presents several features of more than ordinary interest. The general health of the community has been excellent, particularly in the hot season, that period always pro-liftic of disease and the same of the community has been excellent, particularly in the hot season, that period always pro-liftic of disease and the same of the community has been excellent, particularly in the following pro-lifting of the same of the s annual average during the past five years has amounted to 470.

Diphtheria, on the other hand, has been extraordinarily instal, carrying off 1,659 persons, the vast majority of whom were little children. During the past five years the deaths attributed to this disease have averaged 494 annually. In 1870 they were 308, in 1871 they were 238, an 1872 they were 446, in 1873 they were 1,151. In the last mentioned year, therefore, diphtheria became unduly prevalent. Its average weekly mortality was 22 during that year, 25 during the first nine months of the present year and 53 during the three months now closing.

The deaths from croup amounted to 567, against 732 in 1873. It would seem that a marked difference is thus shown between the recent fatality of this affection and of diphtheria, although it is probable that in many instances no distinction is made between them as regards diagnosis.

shown between the recent taking of this account and of diphtheria, although it is probable that in many instances no distinction is made between them as regards diagnosis.

Measies occasioned 318 deaths, scarlatina 834, typhus fever it, typhud fever 277, a mortality in each below the average: so ceaths were ascribed to whooping cough, so considered to be account that of the average; so ceaths were ascribed to whooping cough, and the second of the second of the country. The rear was particularly marked by its comparative excusption from diarrhosal affections. This important class of fatal disorders was credited with only 3,567 deaths, against 4,97 in 1873 and 5,197 in 1872, and a yearly average of 4,609 for the past five years. The greater or less prevalence of diarrhosal diseases may be usually considered the measure of salubrity in this city, and we can therefore congratulate ourselves upon the favorable indications thus afforded during the present year, especially as regards children less than five years old, among whom there took place some 600 less deaths from such causes than in 1873.

The year was a benignant one likewise for persons suffering with consumption, whose victims numbered a trifle over 4,000, about 100 less than in the previous year; if per cent of the total mortality was due to this disease. Pneumonis and bronchitis gave about the same death rate as in 1873, their mortality being respectively 2,396 and 1,061. Cancer caused di deaths, barf diseases 560, kidney diseases 364 and puerperal affections 394, the ordinary mortality in each instance from much less than the annual averably frequent; 178 persons ended their own than such harving produced during the past five years. Suchies were reactively each of the total mortality among persons seventy years old and upwards and 1,610. Cancer could be accounted in the annexed district, now known as the Twenty-third and Twenty fourth wards. There were reported to the Bureau of seathers, insection during the year 1,340 cases of smallpox and 3,300 cases o

THE ELEVENTH AVENUE OPENING.

A meeting of the Commissioners of Estimate and Assessment in the matter of the Eleventh avenue opening was held yesterday at No. 82 Nassau street, for the purpose of hearing parties opposed to the awards. The present report is an amended one, the original having been sent back to the Commissioners specially to make substantial instead of nominal awards for the property taken. Among the persons appearing were Messra, George Peck, W. H. Kitchell, Joseph W. Godwin, W. H. Raynor and Colonel Davis. The parties affected were heard, and no objection was made to carrying out the improvement. The main point to be decided is the adjustment of the awards, as by the order of Judge Lawrence that the time of the appointment of the Commissioners, the whole property taken must be regarded as interior land, and all alloyances made for the addi-A meeting of the Commissioners of Estimate

THE TUNNEL DISASTER.

The inquest on the bodies of the four men who were killed at the Delaware and Lackawanna tunnel was resumed yesterday afternoon before Coroner Reinhard, at Jersey City. John Lanahan testified that he was present when the accident occurred; that he heard screams and learned there were two men in the bucket; the bucket was hable to slip at any mo-ment; the accident was caused by the hook slip-ping from the link that supported the bucket; the poiler of the engine used for hoisting was in a very dangerous condition.

Patrick Lovett, the topman of No. 5 shaft, testified that he lowered down the men in the tified that he lowered down the men in the bucket; he took hold of the bail to steady the bucket; the lever-slipped out of his hand and the whole concern tumbled down; the hook went over the sheave; replaced it and lowered down the bucket again; housted up four men; had not time to give a signal to lower the bucket when the men were precipitated; the accident resulted from an improper bail, or guard, to which the hook is fastened; hooked the bucket afterward; there was nothing attached to the bail to make it secure; when men are lowered no wire protector is used; at the time the men fell the engine stood still; the men frequently complained that the bucket was not safe; the shalt was seventy-five feet deep; the same hook is still in use.

Edward Leary, foreman of the works at the tunnel construction, testified that he heard the rope swing against the sheare, and that he rushed over to ascertain the trouble; there were twenty-four men employed in the shaft; never send a guard except on the water bucket; was engaged as a miner since he came of age.

John Flannery, the engineer, testified that he hook slipped; thought the rope previously the hook slipped; thought the rope broke; did not think the rope strong enough to sustain a weight of 600 pounds.

John Sollivan testified that he went down into the pit with the first gang, and was there when the crash came; he went to the bottom of the shaft and found the men dead.

John Behan testified that he was standing on the top of the ridge when the accident occurred; saw the rope stack and the men tamble down.

John Ryan corrotoorated the testimony of Behan. The inquest was adjourned till this afternoon,
